

Calculation of X/Q for Releases from Area Sources

Jim Key (Key Solutions, Inc.)

Standard X/Q calculations assume releases from point sources. Estimation of discharges from sources such as evaporation basins, cooling ponds or lakes using point source assumptions result in over estimation of ground level concentrations. This discussion presents determination of X/Q for area sources based on methodology derived from Turner. Three different approaches are shown starting with very simple to more complex.